PRICE TWO CENTS

Few Running For SEC

Nominations are still coming in slowly for the SEC elections, and the Faculties of Medicine, Law, Dentistry, Physical Education, Music and Divinity (which share a member) have yet to name a candidate. There are also no candidates for Vice President of the Men's Union.

Engineers have put forward one Candidate, Commerce has nominated three, while Arts and Science has 5 nominations so far.

The returning officer David Bourke expressed considerable worry over the situation, saying that while there might be a few people who were considering running who had not yet turned in their nomination sheets, he didn't know of any.

The deadline for nominations is tomorrow, and all posts in which there are enough candidates to hold a contest will be voted for on Wednesday November 25.

Deadline for handing in pictures, platforms and pensketches to The Daily for publication in a special election issue has been set for 5 pm Friday.

Officials of the Scarlet Key Society, and the Women's Union report an encouraging number of nominations for their elections.

Jim Robb, President of the Students' Society, and Chairman of the SEC expressed his opinion of the very high quality in past Councils, and was sure that the members of the Council for 1954 would not lower it.

Nominations for all posts are to be handed in to George at the Tuck Shop no later than 4 pm this afternoon. They should be signed by 25 members of the group that the candidate is to represent.

MALTESE FALCON

The Maltese Falcon, written and directed by John Huston, is this week's choice of the Graduate Film Society. This film, starring Humphrey Bogart, Peter Lorre and Sydney Greenstreet will be shown at the Physical Sciences Centre Auditorium at 5 and 8 p.m. Admission will be by McGill Identification Card only.

Mayor Houde To Attend Square Dance Festival

Mayor Houde of Montreal will be one of the patrons at the second Annual Square Dance Festival, which takes place tonight at 8.30 p.m. in the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium.

This event is sponsored jointly by the Greater Montreal Section of the Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the McGill School of Physical Education. Funds from the Festival will go to the A. S. Lamb Scholarship Fund.

Daily Staffers Summoned For Social Function

Mad dogs and Daily staffers will be out (like lights) at tonight's annual spontaneous spree known familiarly as the St. Sluggie Ball. Any resemblance to the well-known social function — the St. Andrew's ball — is by no means coincidental.

For those that have not noticed the recent publicity campaign for this great event, and who are therefore not fully aware of what is going on, the facts are these:

1. Come (singly or in pairs).
2. Come tonight (that's when it is).
3. Come to the Union Lounge (you won't find it anywhere else).
4. Come in costume (you may even carry off a prize).

TIME AND PLACE
One other point — the exact time when the party is slated to start is 9.00. Staffers are advised that this, as other Daily deadlines, will be strictly adhered to.

There is only one hitch. Some of the money accepted as bribes from campus publicity agents will have to be returned in the form of an admission fee — 25 cents to be exact.

Also, eligible young women are reminded that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. To further this end, eligible young women are being recruited to prepare food for the party. They are to rally around at 2 p.m. in the Features Office — but only if they have had lunch. The food is expected to last until the evening.

BEAUTIFUL PRECINCTS

The last small thing, is that people to beautify the precincts of the Lounge are needed. This task may seem impossible, but past experience tends to show that something can be done to improve the appearance of the room. Anyone interested in this Herculean task is asked to be in the area of the Union Lounge at 1 p.m.

So to all these willing volunteers — and to all other cheerful peasants who slave once or twice or even more times a week a putting out a paper (of sorts) — The Daily Press Club extends a most hearty welcome.

Bookstore Profits $11,000.

A net profit of approximately $11,000 was realized by the McGill bookstore for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1953, according to a statement released by Professor G.I. Duthie, chairman of the Committee of Management of the McGill University Book Store.

The Committee regards the results of the third year of operation as being highly satisfactory. Sales of both books and supplies show a substantial increase. The sale of books again provided the major part of the store's gross income.

This year for the first time students will share directly in the profits of the McGill Bookstore. Under the new plan drafted by the committee of the SEC headed by Bob Paulette and approved by the SEC and University authorities profits will be divided among the students according to the amounts they have purchased. This means that if the Bookstore profits come to 5% of the gross income, each student will be refunded 5% of the amount shown on the cash register slips he turns in.

In round figures, sales of books and supplies brought in $191,000 and the cost of the books sold was $147,000 giving a gross profit of about $44,000. Bookstore expenses for salaries, rental of premises, etc. totalled $33,000 thus giving a net profit for the year of $11,000.

The Committee stated that as the years have passed, students have found the store more and more useful in making available to them the required books and supplies, and the experience of its staff, coupled with the co-operation of the teaching staff, has enabled the store to carry what was wanted when it was wanted. There is reason to hope, they went on, that with the continued co-operation of all concerned the usefulness of the store and its ability to give service will increase from year to year.

GRAD PHOTOS

Today is the last day for all graduating students to have their pictures taken at Van Dyke Studios for "Old McGill '54". It is requested that those students who have received their proofs return the one they have chosen as soon as possible. The deadline must be met and the cooperation of all students concerned is essential. Please bring $3.50 when going to have your picture taken.

Angels in Concave: Even the Angels are helping plan the Newman Ball. With the heavenly music of Jose DaCosta's orchestra, the Ball promises a heavenly time for all. The Ball will be held at the Cercle Universitaire, 515 Sherbrooke St. East, Friday, November 20, at 9 p.m.

The Newman Club is holding a Ball on Friday, November 20, at 9 p.m. Music is to be provided by Jose DaCosta and his dance band and there will be suitable refreshments for all. Decorations for the Ball, which will be held at the Cercle Universitaire, are to be of a heavenly variety, angels, stars and the like.

Patrons of the Newman Ball are Dr. and Mrs. W.J. McNally, Mr. and Mrs. B.C. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. John Hackett, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Ballantyne, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Timmins, Mr. and Mrs.

Tickets are now on sale in the lobby of the Engineering building for the "Engineer's Fall Informal", to be held on Saturday evening, Nov. 14th. In retribution for the "balloon fiasco" every 50th ticket will be given away free. Music will be provided by Ray Dho's orchestra and "set-ups" will be sold to all who wish. This event promises to be one of the biggest cabaret type dances ever held at McGill.

Plumber's Informal to be Held Saturday Evening

The Engineers Fall Informal will be held this Saturday night at 9 pm in the Currie gym.

This dance is open to everyone, not merely to members of the Engineering faculty. Tickets at $1.50 per couple will be on sale in the Engineering building between the hours of 12 and 2.

Jan Gregory, chairman of the dance, extends his apologies to all those who waited in front of the Arts Building for those balloons from heaven which never came. Last year, the plumbers gave away free tickets to the dance by inserting the slips in balloons which they let fall from the Arts building roof into the hands of hopeful students. This year the procedure was to be repeated, but due to unforeseen circumstances the arrangement had to be changed.

Instead every fiftieth ticket will be sold free of charge. Free tickets will also be given to all students who help decorate the gym on Saturday afternoon. People are required for this task, and will be rewarded accordingly.

Ray Dho's orchestra will provide the music for the dance and Noel Spinnelli's trio will be on hand to see that there is continuous music throughout the evening.

This dance may be the largest one of cabaret style ever held in the gym. Over 1,000 people are expected to be present and chairs and tables will be provided for all.

The Informal is a preview of the Formal Dance which will take place sometime in February. Everyone is reminded by the executive that this will be the last dance at the Currie Gym until the McGill Prom, nearly four weeks away.

Refreshments will be served, with two free pieces of ice for each person. Mixers of soda water and ginger ale will be available.

Indian Colour Slides Shown On Wednesday

Colour slides of India will be shown on Wednesday, Nov. 18 in the Union Lounge. Bob Paulette, who with Pat Vos and David Grier represented McGill at the World University Service Seminar in India this past summer, will show the slides which he took during his stay.

Mr. Paulette had extensive opportunity to see the country, as he spent five weeks at the seminar, and later toured India, taking slides and speaking with the inhabitants. The slides have been shown to the SEC and the Board of Governors. Those who have seen them have reported that they were most interesting and worthwhile.

The slides include pictures of the natives of India as well as a photographic outline of the travels of the students. They number over 700 and also include pictures of Europe. Mr. Paulette will comment on the slides as they are shown.

Elections For Red Wing Society To Be Held Soon

Elections for the Red Wing Society, women's honorary society at McGill, will be held on November 25. Nominations will be accepted until noon, Nov. 17, and must be handed into the Women's Union office between the hours of 12 and 1 pm.

The Red Wing Society was organized to provide for the welfare and entertainment of visitors to the University and to help in

WUS to Get More Money

Slice of Combined Charities Raised to 33%

The portion of Combined Charities collections going to the World University Service was increased from 25% to 33 1/3% at the SEC meeting last night, on the recommendations of both Dave Grier, Chairman of the McGill WUSC Committee, and Dick Vandenburg, Chairman of the Combined Charities Committee.

The Council heard Mr. Grier recommend this increase as his third choice. For this year Grier favoured two separate campaigns — one for WUS and one for the Montreal charities. This suggestion was vetoed by the Council.

For the future, Grier advocated a single campaign, in which each student would mark his contribution as to what division he wanted to make between WUS and the city charities. This scheme, said Grier, would mean that the student would have to think about what he was giving and why. He opposed an arbitrary percentage division on the grounds that this would in effect be telling the student where his money should go.

Both Grier and Vandenburg stated that the scheme was impossible to bring into operation this year. The Council made no recommendation at all as to its adoption next year, leaving that to the next Council.

AMENDMENT

Also discussed at last night's meeting was the amendment which the Engineers are bringing before the next Students' Society meeting — scheduled for a week from today. A general discussion on the pros and cons of the move lasted for about half an hour.

John Jonas advised the Council that it would be "unwise to take this thing too seriously," saying that he was sure that the Engineers would get great satisfaction if the Council showed much concern.

Another member, however, warned the Council not to take the Engineers too lightly. Some support was shown for giving the engineers more representation than at present, but there was a general feeling that reducing the size of the Council is not necessary.

Jerome Smyth, representative for Law, expressed the opinion that the proposed amendment was designed only to get more members from Engineering on the Council, and that their proposal to chop one Arts and Science member was not made in earnest.

Other business discussed included the approval of several budgets submitted by undergraduate societies. The request of the MUS for a grant of $825 was cut down to $663, on the grounds that in a year when the Students' Society was facing a deficit, it would not be a good idea to increase undergraduate society grants over last year's. Requests for aid from other undergraduate societies were generally scaled down also, with the exception of the Physical and Occupational Therapy Undergraduate Society which was granted the $7.50 needed to meet its budgeted deficit.

"Old McGill" Staff Plans Large Selling Campaign

The Annual, "Old McGill" is once more going on sale. In order to publicize the yearbook and to explain its merit, the publicity department will print a series of articles in The Daily about the Annual's content and history.

EDITORS EXPLAIN
The different Editors at the heads of the various departments will each submit something about their contribution to the book. In addition the Editor-in-Chief, the Associate Editor, and the Managing Editor will each tell what they do before, during and after the time that the rest of the staff is contributing its work and energy. The organization and make up of the "Old McGill '54" staff will be completely explained.

PARADE ON MONDAY
To start off the Annual will feature a mammoth parade on Monday. Kay Smith has organized a fleet of sleek MGs and the attractive coeds on the "Old McGill" staff will be added for show. Every car or second car will represent a different section of the Annual: Features; Clubs and Societies; Graduates; Photography; Sports; Layouts; and Sales. There will be huge placards on the sides of the automobiles so that those who can read will have a chance to find out what it's all about.

Sandy James, in charge of Sales and Publicity for the Annual, anticipated some students don't like to read — they would rather look at pictures. For this select small group the girls sitting in the Sports Cars will be dressed to explain the section of the Yearbook which they will represent.

As an added attraction the fleet of cars will be led by a girl on horseback. If everything comes through as planned Bobbie Hutchison will ride a policeman's mount at the front of the parade. In addition to Miss Hutchison and the cars there will be several students dressed as a bull.

The cars will enter the campus by the entrance next to the Med Building, will pass the Biology Building and then will come to a short halt by the Arts Building. Mitch Klein will be in the fore part of the fleet and will deliver a short informative message over a P.A. System. Different editors on the Annual staff will be around to answer pertinent questions.

19% of Arts and Science Vote for Class Executives

By Ruth Dickstein

A total of 300 students, 19.3% of Arts and Science, turned up at the poll to elect the ASUS class executive yesterday. The Freshmen class led the voting population with 108, with 3rd year next with 79 voters.

First year president is Jack Winter, who defeated his closest opponent, Bill Feldman, by a count of 34 to 33. Ralph Ordower, treasurer, led his only opponent, Robert Reich, with votes of 58 to 25. The new vice-president is Ruth Roskies who defeated Elizabeth Gillespie by a vote of 60 to 31, while Lisette Goddard, secretary, defeated Marjorie Granda with a vote of 60 to 30.

SECOND YEAR OFFICERS

Second year president is Herman Gelber, who led David Franklin by a count of 46 to 19. James Domville was elected 4th year president, with 25 votes, 17 more than his nearest opponent.

The election for third year president was close with Ed Blanshaway defeating his closest contender, Norman Goldberg, with a count of 30 to 26. Michael Lansdown, the third candidate, obtained 23 votes. Harvey Lupu, 3rd year treasurer, was voted into office 48 to 17 over his closest opponent, Peter Salzer.

Although only 19.3% of the student population turned up to vote, the executive was pleased with the general outcome of the elections. Last year only eight students contested four offices, while this year 30 contested 15 of the 16 positions. Of the 15 positions contested, seven were acclaimed, leaving 22 candidates for 8 offices.

HILLEL TICKETS

All reserved tickets for the Hillel production "Strictly Hay-brow" must be picked up not later than Thursday, November 19, at that Union during lunch hour. Tickets for the show are being sold daily at Hillel House and at the Union from 12 to 2 p.m.

Debate Shows Law More Beneficial Than Religion

Law was proven to be more useful to society than religion during a debate between members of the Faculties of Law and Divinity yesterday noon hour.

The topic of the debate, which was held in Divinity Hall, was as follows: "Resolved that religion is more beneficial to society than law."

Bill Morris, the first speaker for the affirmative, pointed out that in the Old Testament God was law and that law as we know it today is actually only an offspring of religion. He also stated that the law courts deal with crime rather than sin and that law without honour is useless.

Jack Greenstein, the first speaker for the negative, stated that religion was law only because there was no central power, no strong king or state government. With the coming of the Renaissance the state took over and people looked to it for protection and justice. Greenstein emphasized the fact that religion had no means of enforcing its law and illustrated this fact by taking the case of a small child. The Church blesses an infant but the law protects it.

Don Bardwell, second speaker for the affirmative, stated that religion and love not law hold a family together. He also said that when a community tries to exist

From This Corner

A mathematical muddle may be in the making Saturday as Bob Masterson's Varsity Blues travel to Kingston to battle the Golden Gaels and John Metras' Western Mustangs play host to McGill's fourth place Redmen.

The Redmen are out of the playoffs, there's no doubt about that, but Frank Tindall's crew could toss the monkey-wrench into the Intercollegiate scramble by defeating Toronto. This would produce a tie for second place in the league, assuming Mustangs run true to form and come up with a win against Obeck's Redmen.

In beating Varsity, the Gaels would have to win by ten points at least, as they were beaten 16-7 by the Blues. When a tie for a certain position occurs in the league it isn't the team with the best scoring average that is given the nod, but the record between the two squads alone is taken into consideration. The Gaels lost to Toronto by nine points in their last encounter and, therefore would have to win by ten to be sure of capturing second place in the loop.

What would happen if things really went haywire and McGill beat Western as well as a Gael win over the Blues? The league big-wigs would really have a problem on their hands. Who would play who, for the privilege of meeting whom, and here? The way things stand at present no provision has been made for such a situation, then again, can it really happen?

Many players on Obeck's squad will be making their last appearances in Intercollegiate ball. A number of these fellows played on the Red and White powerhouses of a few years back and, now that they are leaving, the link to that great McGill football era will be severed.

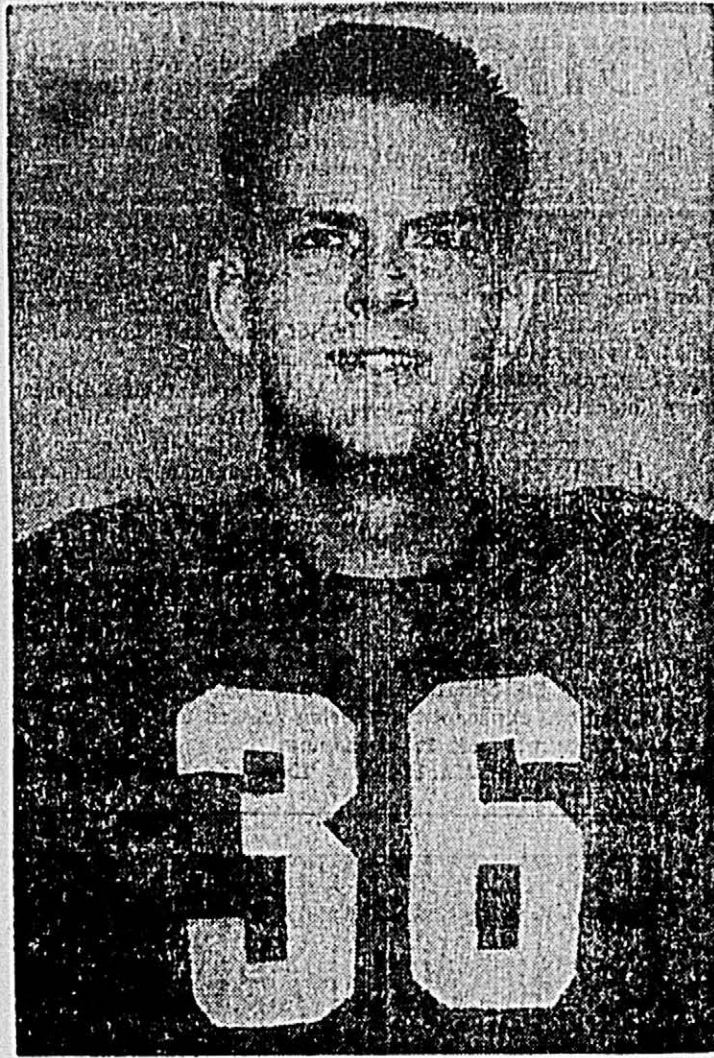

Players like Blewald, Klen, McGill, Shaw, Wilmot, to mention a few won't be around next year. This gives an indication of the reconstruction job ahead for the Redmen. Beside the 6 players who had their share of the glory in previous years our troubles are far from over. Don Stirling, Joe Bernot, Mark Hatt, Bill Moulton and Garnet Bertrand, will be missed as well.

Joe Anderson's Intermediates have an excellent chance to cop the championship of Ottawa St. Lawrence Conference Saturday when they tangle with the Ottawa Colts at the Capitol. RMC their nearest rivals are eliminated by the same Colts who'll be out to really prove themselves giant-killers by knocking off the Indians this weekend.

The Indians, source of talent for next year's edition of the Redmen show a few bright prospects. Fellows like Perry, Adrian and Schwartz will, in all probability be on the Senior roster next year but, outside of a few prospects, the Redmen's future looks dim indeed.

The team will be at full strength for Saturday's game with the Mustangs, with the exception of George Klein who has a shoulder separation, which was more serious than thought at first.

Varsity Blues currently riding the crest of a three game win streak will be out for their fourth straight against the Gaels, but in all probability will be without the services of all-star halfback Steve Oneschuk who has an injured shoulder. His place will be taken on offense by Bill McFarlane who showed very well against Western. Masterson has been drilling his team defensively this past week.

Here are two Redmen Garnet Bertrand, left, and Hal Blewald, right, who will be playing their last tussle in the Red and White toga come Saturday. Both of these players have been standouts during the season.

Crosscountry Crew Head For Toronto

by Morrie Shohet

Guy Mercereau, McGill's big hope in the intercollegiate harrier tomorrow in Toronto, copped our own crosscountry meet yesterday afternoon over a field of eight starters. Stan Allison came up with second place with Bill Wilson behind him in third. Peter Reid and Geoff Minnes finished fourth and fifth in that order.

The above quintet will make up the squad to hop to Toronto for the intercollegiate harrier championships held tomorrow. We hate to sound pessimistic, but it doesn't look too good for our crew. Only Mercereau, of the five, has run collegiate harrier before.

The others are all rookies to the race. Reid and Wilson both ran for the senior track team but only in the middle distance events. Allison and Minnes are new to the collegiate scene.

The boys leave for Toronto this afternoon at 3:30 p.m., sleep in the Queen City and run tomorrow morning at 11:30.

Queens will be sending only one entry, Fritz McDougall. McDougall beat out Toronto's ace Dave Preston in the intercollegiate three mile race. He ran second behind Dave in last year's harrier.

Only three complete squads will be entered, from McGill, Toronto and RMC. OAC, who competed in the senior class before, has dropped down to the intermediate level. They'll be running against teams from Toronto, Western and McMaster in that division.

The race is five miles and 110 feet long and will be run over the terrain of High Park. The Blues will definitely have the edge as far as the course is concerned, and that has always been a factor in the outcome. In '52, our runners were splkes for the race in Queens which proved their downfall over the hard, rocky course.

In its latest press release, Varsity has sent out a brief story on their squad. Dave Preston, Herb Tilson, Gord Banks, Gord Rintoul and Bill Eckerley will carry the blue colors over the High Park trails. Preston is current champ and Tilson won the race in 1951. Herb didn't run last year.

Reigning champion RMC will be trying to duplicate their victory but it's going to be a lot harder this session. They have lost their star Fritz McDougall to Queens University. Troman-hauser will be the big threat from the Kingston Cadets. Incidentally, crosscountry running is a required activity at RMC so that no one of them will be any pushover.

Poloists Down Concordia 9-6; Shiller 5

by Les Jonas

The McGill Waterpolo Septet played a terrific game last night in the Memorial Pool. Unfortunately, hard as they tried, they couldn't get into the two-column figures, downing a colorful Concordia crew 9-6.

The whole team seemed to live. They completely outswam the Concordia crew. Shiller stood out as far as popping the ball in the net was concerned, getting no less than five markers. The back-catching we knew the team was capable of, was on show last night. Lacoursiere, who notched seven of Concordia's points when they were beaten by YMHA, was so well covered by Steinberg and Rosenberg, that he didn't get away once.

There are no beefs about the refereeing. This is not because we won. The ref made mistakes and balled up the rules a couple of times, but he was passable. As a matter of fact, the Concordia crew played a relatively clean game. Clean, that is, except for No. 6—Dupuis.

According to the books this man Dupuis is a cop. It seems that the police force has such a hold on him that even in the water he tried to maintain peace. Well, I don't know what he was trying to maintain but at one point he let Gelfand have it in the face. The ref pulled him out, of course, and Shiller didn't hesitate to heave the sphere into the net.

Dupuis was out a second time later on and this time it was Novick who scored. Novick, by the way, was covered like a hawk. Even that way he managed to get two goals.

The Red team was good. They had to work for all they got. Missing in their line-up was their star center Krka (don't ask me how to spell it, I can't even pronounce it). Kolodny played a good game taking Krka's place. So far, he's averaged a goal a game, which is pretty good for a freshman.

Cook and Hops also put in staunch efforts. Cook really fought hard, getting the ball from center everytime. It's not an easy task when you're forty-minute man. He scored a marker, too, passed well, and covered Lacoursiere for part of the time.

Goalie Hops played a much better game than against the Central YMHA last week. When the "Warriors" got hot he made some sensational saves. Only one thing wrong: for Concordia's sixth and last goal Hope came out of his net. In the deep end, with nothing to stand on and no defenceman in front, there's quite a temptation to go out. But sometimes the consequences are not favourable.

Indians Tackle Colts; Championship On Line

by Marv Altman

As their most important game of the season comes up this Saturday, coach Joe Anderson has had his Inter Indians going through stiff workouts all week.

Defeated last week, RMC Cadets, who were the only threat to the Indians in their path to glory, are out of the running. A victory for the baby Redmen will wrap it all up.

University of Ottawa, who will be their opponents this weekend, have won one game in four starts. Their lone triumph was an upset last week against RMC. The Indians are very confident of victory, but the Ottawa twelve may easily come up with another upset.

Husky Rick Adrian, who missed the last game on account of a minor head injury, will be out again.

Anderson indicates, that except for the addition of Fred Mutch, he will send out the same lineup that whipped Carleton. Norm Buka will be used as a pass defender, and the two platoon system whereby Bob Reid and Don Wood switch will be used again.

FRIDAY FILLERS: — Paul Hughes played a solid game last week... Paul also wrestles for McGill... John Meagher, who coaches intermediate hockey has been helping Anderson with some of the coaching duties... Barry Carique and Bob Neapole, LCC's contribution to McGill have been playing good ball... Bob Reid, Rick Adrian, Barry Richman, Don Wood and Bruce MacLachlan are all graduates of West Hill High... Tom Rogers, team captain has an older brother Terry, who is teaching at RMC... Terry graduated from McGill with a doctor's degree in engineering.

Thanks To Stan

The championship Commerce Cup's softball team was managed by Stan "The Man" Diamond and captained by Dick McGrath, both players in the Snowdon Major Football League.

The players wish to express their thanks to the playing manager who gave so freely of his time and efforts to organize and manage the team.

Phys-Ed Wins Double In Co-Ed Basketball

Those who claim that more co-eds to-day would rather be spectators than participants ought to visit the Currie gym on Thursday afternoon at 4 p.m. It is the scene of the women's intramural basketball tournament, with representatives from many of the faculties.

Yesterday, a double-header took place, with Commerce opposing Phys-Ed 3 & 4, and Physio battling it out with Phys-Ed 1. In the opening game, the Phys-eds edged out their commerce opponents by a score of 12-9. This was a fast moving game with plenty of action. Margo Logan, and M.J. Morgan, were great assets to the winning team, potting three points apiece, and with the help of Nina Roch, who played an excellent defensive game, they were ahead by a score of 12-4 at the close of the third quarter. The businesswomen, however, did not lose their spirit but rather applied the power, with Demato, Catlow and Morgan putting the points through the hoop. Their attack was not entirely successful, because the last whistle of the game found them behind by a slim margin of three points, making the score 12-9 with Phys-eds on top.

Meds Win Crown

Under yesterday's threatening skies and on a soggy gridiron, the Big Red Machine of the Medical Faculty defeated the Arts and Science Westies to cop the intramural touch football championship. The 12-6 score is a fair indication of the closeness of this hard-fought contest.

Reeve and Phelan both garnered majors for the winners, while Gutellus converted the first touch-down. Bell who sparked The Machine's game with his long punts kicked a rouge in the first half.

B. Powell scored the lone touch down for the losers, and Robertson converted for the extra point. The half time rest found the future doctors on top by a slim margin of one point, 7-6 was the actual count. Play did not slacken in the second half, but the Big Red Machine, gearing up its strong attack, finally rolled over for a major. For the remaining ten minutes the Meds tightened their defence and managed to stave off the Westies' attack until the final whistle.

Players Club to Present "Legend of Lovers" Soon

The Players Club will present "Legend of Lovers", Jean Anouilh's famous play, on Thursday, Nov. 19.

The play will be staged on Nov. 19, 20, 21, 23, 24 and 25 in the Union Ballroom. Norma Springfield is directing this major arena-style production of the year, and the cast includes Gerda Rother, Heiko Schlieper, Bunny Miller, Corinne Copnick, Ed Bell, Chris Byrd, Yvonne Perrault, Greg Friend, Chick Bombardieri, Jack Ney, Eva Pilar, George Arslano, Bill Kelly, Ed Childe and John Waterhouse. Tickets will go on sale Monday.

The Orpheus legend is one of the most famous Greek myths.

Orpheus, Aristaeus probables felt that he had a claim to the lovely by virtue of his kinship to Orpheus since his father too was the god Apollo. In any event, although the Greeks seem to have considered Aristaeus an essentially benevolent deity, he gave chase to Eurydice, who in her attempt to flee was bitten by a serpent, an accident which caused her death.

Inconsolable, Orpheus travelled to the underworld to plead for the return of his beloved. Pluto, stern and pitiless god of the underworld, remained deaf to Orpheus' entreaties. Only when Orpheus began to perform his divine music did the god relent for the only time in recorded mythology. It is Pluto's change of heart which is perhaps the most astounding aspect of the whole legend, and it remains the greatest tribute paid to Orpheus' art by god or man. Pluto allowed Eurydice to return with Orpheus, on condition that the latter refrain from looking at his mate until both had reached the higher regions. This, for several conflicting mythological reasons, Orpheus neglected to do. Eurydice thus perished in the ascent from the underworld, and Orpheus returned to Thrace, an avowed misogynist. The Thracian women did not take kindly to his snobbery, and finally combined to tear him to pieces. His body was thrown into the river Hebrion, and his head came ashore on the island of Lesbos. Sic transit gloria mundi.

their freedom to write how and what they chose - provided it stirred up Soviet patriotism and strengthened morale. After the war, some of these, like Soslura, Pervomaisky, Bazhan, Rytsky and others were forced to admit that their works, some of which had been widely praised, were now full of errors and "bourgeois nationalism".

At the present time literature in Soviet Ukraine is bound hand and foot to the everyday needs of Party propaganda. Subjects, treatment, techniques and style all come under the close scrutiny of the Mrs. Grundy's of the Party seeking for any trace of impurity which might corrupt the reader.

Under such circumstances, it is not to be wondered at that little which is truly original is being created and even less that is new.

There are, however, a group of writers now living abroad, who are not hampered by the official restrictions effective within the U.S.S.R. Although their audience is limited and their material circumstances often inadequate, there can be little doubt that they are producing works of lasting value and contributing to the development of their literature.

Nothing else is possible in a situation where political parties and governments set themselves up as judges of literature, but do not judge it by literary standards.

without religion it collapses. He used Israel and Judea, after David's time, as examples of this. In summation he pointed out that government, community, family and individual are all given wisdom to interpret law by religion. Jerome Smythe, the second speaker for the negative, stated that religion exists only through the tolerance of law. The Roman Catholic Church is tolerated in Quebec under the terms of the Quebec Act. Law gives priests and ministers the power to marry and baptize people, he said. Smythe felt that society could exist without religion but not without law, that without law there would be chaos.

Bill Morris, in his rebuttal, pointed out that a society without religion would not be worth living in. Professor Dales, who acted as judge for the debate, declared the negative team the winner on the strength of their delivery and a slight edge in material.

First Student: "Why are there more auto accidents than train wrecks?"

Second Student: "Must be because the engineer isn't always making love to the fireman."
